

Resolution 79-17

Unresponsible Student Academic Council Members

Introduced 2/12/80

Status

Whereas, student members of the Academic Council are elected also as a member of ASG's Congress, and

Whereas, these members of Congress can be removed from the ASG Congress for habitually missing ASG meetings because their absence shows a lack of interest, responsibility and a failure to uphold those duties they were elected to perform, we feel that similar action should be taken and that they be removed from the Academic Council, if they fail to attend meetings.

As it stands now, no student member of the Academic Council can be removed from the Academic Council, even if they have been removed from the ASG for failure to perform their elected duties.

We feel that student members of the Academic Council should have to face similar penalties for failure to attend Academic Council meetings as they do for failure to attend ASG meetings.

Removal of these irresponsible members would occur when two other student members of the Academic Council request the Student Caucus Chairman to do so. The Student Caucus Chairman would then discuss the dismissal with the ASG President and the Chairman of the Academic Council. If it is the consensus of these people that dismissal should occur, then it would be taken to the entire Academic Council and voted upon.

The Criteria for dismissal should be as follows:

1. Failure of the Student Member to attend regular meetings of the Academic Council without first notifying the Caucus Chairman with a reasonable excuse. Upon receiving permission to miss the meeting, it will be the responsibility for the member to contact his or her alternate so that they may take his or her place.
2. Reasonable excuse will include the following:
 - a. Dr.'s excuses
 - b. Deaths or illnesses in the student's immediate family.
 - c. Serious personal problems in the member's immediate family.
